

Reflections (1)

Category: Reflections

Published: Saturday, 18 October 2014 14:22

Written by dave

Hits: 2834

Here and below I will be posting my Reflections starting now - at age 87 - on my life and works, their consequences, as well as my observations on larger issues of the times which influenced my military career, technological and public interests and accomplishments while I lived.

I have also added a section called Hindsight, where I comment on how things might have been different had I made different decisions.